Woohoo! Top Ten World Junior Championships!!!

Right now I am ecstatic! Right now I am also waiting to do drug testing (I guess that is what happens when you ski fast).

I had an absolutely fantastic race today- I skied well, had fast skis (thank you wax techs), and great shooting (thank you rifle).

I had a bit of trouble in my first standing round (two misses), but overcame that with some positive thinking, shot clean bouts every other time and just skied my own race. On the last loop I was getting splits for third place, and believe me, by the time I hit the last hill, my legs could not move me another inch.

This is my best ever result and right now I feel like I am about to burst with emotion! I had the best support team in the world today- my coach Matthias Ahrens, supporting coaches Rich and Dan, wax techs Claude and Jacque and massuer Ivan.

I hope everyone is well at home. I look forward to my next race on Saturday (January 27th) because my legs are raring to go.
